

Wooden appearance

Crazy Piano's in Scheveningen is not your ordinary piano bar. No, it is a piano bar with top piano players from all over the world. Six amazing pianists turn each night into a party. From classic singalongs to crazy American rock 'n' roll, the pianists play their hearts out the entire evening at the fire engine red pianos.

Crazy Piano's entertains thousands of dancing, drinking and partying guests every weekend. The flooring is therefore subjected to hard usage. Their wooden flooring was found to need replacement 5 times over a 9 year period. Wooden flooring matches perfectly with the atmosphere at Crazy Piano's, but having to replace it again and again causes them too much inconvenience.

Crazy Piano's has asked Bolidt to help find a solution. In order to retain the impression of wooden flooring, the Bolidtop® LP-029609 system has been installed here. A synthetic flooring system that looks like wood including seams and graining. Influences like dancing crowds and broken beer glasses are no exception. This floor finish is able to withstand extreme stress. In addition, this floor has much better anti-slip properties than the wood that was used before.

Crazy Piano's now has the atmosphere of a wooden floor, but not the inconvenience!
