

Bolidt: the dairy industry specialist

Nestlé is the world's largest food conglomerate, which markets premium brands for people and their pets. For any time of the day, at any stage of life. They are a reliable, pragmatic, tolerant and responsible company, thinking and working in line with a long-term vision, with respect, understanding and obligations towards their consumers, customers, suppliers, shareholders and especially their employees. Nestlé stands for tasty, healthy and good food, with a focus on wellness. They want to add to a pleasant and good life style. Nestlé: Good Food, Good Life.

Milk tankers come to Nestlé every day to deliver fresh milk from the farms for the production of (sugared) condensed milk. Milk may be spilled during unloading, causing the floor to become sticky. Hoses with their coupling attachments can fall onto the floor. Even after years of use, the unloading area still has to provide sufficient grip for 40 ton trucks to brake. In short, the surface in the unloading area has to provide durable grip and be resistant to falling objects, but it also should be properly cleanable.

Bolidt has been able to offer a solution that matches these requirements perfectly by applying the Bolidtop® 700 system. This floor finish combines durable grip, impermeability to liquids, good cleanability and high wear resistance. It is one of the results of Bolidt's many years of experience in the dairy industry and its development of proprietary products. Bolidt has already proven its worth in several dairy factories, such as Campina, Friesland Coberco Dairy Foods and Friesche Vlag. Various spaces there have been fitted with Bolidtop® flooring.
